

TO DEMONSTRATE
ALBERTA'S COAL
VALUE IN "PEG"

EDMONTON, Oct. 8.—The Alberta mines branch has arranged to open a demonstration plant in Winnipeg next week for the purpose of trying out different grades of Alberta coal and showing the Manitobans how to use them. Quarters for the plant have been secured near Portage avenue, and for the next four months experimental fires will be kept there in some nine or ten different types of furnaces, besides cook stoves and heaters of the kind generally used in Winnipeg. Marcus C. Syde, the resident combustion engineer of the mines branch, will be in charge.

All grades of coal will be demonstrated at this plant, the idea being to show prospective consumers how to make and keep fires on mined-in-Alberta coal. The coal will be secured from the regular stock piles of the Winnipeg dealers, and no attempt will be made to pick samples. It is the intention to have the plant open every day and to invite the public to come and see. Much interest in the scheme has already been expressed by citizens and dealers, and officials of the mines branch here are looking for good results.

The Manitoba government has arranged to send the chief engineer of its central heating plant, T. M. Power, to Alberta as soon as cold weather comes. He will make an investigation on his own account into the way Alberta coal is handled here during the real winter.

As a result of the recent test in one of the government boilers in Winnipeg, a order for 2,500 tons of Alberta coal has been given by the Manitoba government for use in the heating of the agricultural college. The government coal bins are now pretty well filled up with American coal, but it is understood that in future a large proportion of the business will come to Alberta mines, the output of which has been demonstrated as superior to the imported article.—Calgary Herald.

INEFFICIENT SELLING
CAUSE OF LOW
WHEAT PRICES

"What reasons is there for wheat this year selling at a lower figure than in 1919?"

This was a question put to H. W. Wood, president of the United Farmers of Alberta, by a representative of the Calgary Herald on Friday. Mr. Wood replied: "From the standpoint of the law of supply and demand there is absolutely none; the only reason in the world is the inefficiency in the selling of the wheat this year."

The president in further commenting on the wheat situation as it exists today remarked that the United States and Canada had large supplies of wheat to sell; Great Britain and Europe had to buy this wheat. The only question at issue, therefore, was the price. "Great Britain and other nations," he said, "are working together and acting in an intelligent manner to get this wheat at the lowest possible price, whereas Canada and the United States, as nations, are taking no intelligent action whatever to get the best possible price."

Suggest Co-operation
Mr. Wood stated that he wondered if it ever occurred to the Canadian government that it might suggest to the United States that they could act together intelligently in the sale of this wheat. If that were done buyers and sellers would be placed on an equal basis of efficient action, with the probable result that prices would at least be stabilized.

"The people of the United States," he continued, "are clamoring for this kind of protection, so are the people in Canada. The difference seems to come from the two governments."

Continuing, Mr. Wood said, in reply to a question regarding the government fixing a minimum price for wheat, that he was strongly opposed to the principle of a fixed price and maintained at government expense. "But this is a time for crisis," he said, "and the crisis is the result of a blunder of the government. The government therefore would be fully justified in taking unusual methods of meeting the crisis."

Fixed Minimum Price
Mr. Wood further stated that he was satisfied in his own mind that the government could meet the situation by a fixed minimum price and take very little, if any, risk in suffering a financial loss. He would, however, most strenuously insist that the minimum price should not be less than $2.50 a bushel.

E. S. McCrory's Opinion
E. S. McCrory, western manager of the United Grain Growers, in expressing his opinion of the government fixing a minimum price for this year's wheat, stated that it was the only legislation, as far as he knew, that would meet the present requirements. Farmers of Canada, he said, were already faced with a most serious loss, even at the present market price of wheat. He contended that what the farmer should get for his wheat should be based upon the cost of production.

POCKET STILL IS
LATEST INVENTION

ASHEVILLE, N. C.—A pocket still is the latest device captured by federal officers. Agents working out of the local office recently captured such a miniature still near Saluda. The whole outfit was so small the officers put it in their pockets and brought it to the city for exhibition purposes. The officers called it a parlor still. It is of about one table-glass capacity and manufactured an article for home consumption. It was said by officers that the still was complete to the smallest detail.—Lethbridge Herald.

CANADA'S CATTLE
CLEANEST IN WORLD

LONDON, Oct. 9.—(Canadian Associated Press)—Lord Lee, minister of Agriculture, has reiterated to a deputation of Scottish farmers and meat traders that the government is unable to raise the embargo on Canadian cattle. He admitted that Canadian cattle was one of the cleanest in the whole world, but that it was impossible to import from any quarter of the world without incurring risk.—Lethbridge Herald.

MARBLE STATUES OF GREEK MAIDENS ARE REMOVED

PARIS.—When, some years ago, a woman's society in Boston, Mass., demanded of the authorities that trowsers be placed upon the naked Cupids adorning the portals of the local Public Library, there was a world-wide outburst of laughter.

Nowhere were the people so amused as in France, where the Boston women's silly action served as an inexhaustible theme for jokes and caricatures, and it is the irony of fate that the first bona-fide imitator of the Massachusetts purity crusaders should be no less a personage than a French Secretary of State.

Since days immemorial the gardens of the Ministry of Finance had been boasting of three marble statues representing some Greek mythological maidens, clad in a classic altogether. Secretaries came and secretaries went, but the statues remained almost unnoticed, save by some connoisseurs of Athenian art.

And now comes the denouement. The present Secretary of State for Fine Arts, M. Isaac, the father of a large family, one of the most ardent advocates of France's repopulation, happened to see the statues in a moment of leisure. He was duly shocked, and an order for their banishment was immediately issued.

Unless something unforeseen happens, the statues will disappear from the gardens, although efforts are being made to overcome the Minister's scruples, and already a group of Montmartre artists has offered to supply appropriate dresses for the statues during M. Isaac's tenancy of office.—Daily Sketch, (London.)

of the grain trade.

This journal states:

"It is becoming increasingly apparent that the chief distributing force in the wheat market is the presence of buying agents of foreign governments. These agencies appear to be manipulating the market with all the agility of ordinary grain speculators, plus the unlimited financial backing of their several governments. When they want to buy, they diligently circulate reports to the effect that they are not in the market, whereupon wheat prices decline, and they are able to make heavy purchases at conveniently low figures."

Amount of Purchases
"Just how much wheat has thus been bought is, of course, more or less conjectural, but actual shipments from the United States and Canadian ports since July 1 have been 90,240,000 bushels, as against 41,856,000 bushels for the same period in 1919, while four shipments have dropped from 6,502,000 barrels to 4,037,000."

"This situation is actually the one against which the grain exchanges were specifically warned before the Grain Corporation went out of business, and again just before option trading was revived. If they cannot find some way to prevent the foreign agents from juggling with the wheat market, it is by no means impossible that the federal authorities may feel themselves compelled to step in."

These views, it might be added, are also those generally held by the grain trade on this side of the line.

Further Drop in Wheat
Further declines were registered on the Winnipeg market, Friday, October wheat closing 3 1/4 cents lower, and November and December 4 1/2 cents lower. The options for the three respective months are now $2.16 1/4, $2.11 and $2.02. The cash price for No. 1 Northern is $2.20 1/2. This additional decline will cause a greater insistence than ever that the Canadian government should seek to take action, possibly with the United States, in fixing a minimum price.

Admirable Illustration
An admirable illustration was made by one of the local grain men Friday, of the stabilizing effect the action of the Wheat Board had last year. It may be recalled that an embargo was placed upon the importation of Canadian wheat into the

BASOFF WILL
HANG DEC. 22nd
AT LETHBRIDGE

(From the Lethbridge Herald)

MACLEOD, Oct. 13.—On December 22, 1920, Tom Basoff will pay with his life for the murdering of Constable F. W. E. Bailey, of the Lethbridge Detachment of the Alberta Provincial Police. That was the decree of the assizes court here this afternoon. Six good men and true returned a verdict of guilty of murder and Judge McCarthy passed the death sentence. They gave their verdict at 4.45 this afternoon after an hour's deliberation.

With the hanging of Basoff in the Lethbridge jail at dawn, three days before Christmas and just at the time when millions of children are dreaming about Santa Claus, the fifth life resulting from the holding up of C. P.R. train number 63 at Sentinel on August 2 will have been taken. British justice then will have been served and the law of the land will consider that proper recompense has been made for the stopping unlawfully of the train, the stealing of four hundred dollars and the taking of the life of Constable Bailey and that of Corporal Ernest Usher, of the Macleod detachment of the R. C. M. P.

Two other lives have been lost in this chase after fugitives. Arkoff, one of the bandits, a partner of Basoff, paid for his share of the train robbery and for resisting of arrest in the Bellevue cafe in Bellevue on August 7 with his life on that date and Nick Kysilek, who refused to obey the command of Constable Hudson, was shot dead at Hillcrest during a search of the houses at that point on August 9.

That is the cost of the train robbery and the chase in the Frank country, put down in cold words. In money the chase and trial cost a large sum but this afternoon justice was served with the sentencing of Basoff to be hanged.

True enough it was the verdict expected by nearly every one who attended the court but the jury was out one hour and during that time some thought at gleam of light was beginning to show for the crouching figure in the iron cage. Basoff, with his eye constantly turned toward the floor today appeared not to be paying much attention to what was going on and not until Judge McCarthy called to him to stand on his feet and hear his fate did he lift his eye.

The Appearance of Basoff
Standing in his old clothes, wearing a mackinaw in the hot court room and his grey shirt unfastened at his neck Basoff listened to Judge McCarthy (Continued on Page Two)

URGE NATIONAL CEMETERIES FOR
WAR'S VETERANS

VICTORIA, B.C., Oct. 12.—At this morning's session of the Dominion convention of the Army and Navy Veterans' Association here, a resolution was unanimously passed to suggest to the government the advisability of establishing national cemeteries throughout the Dominion where the veterans of past wars can be buried at the expense of the government.

The convention was quite emphatic in its stand. Many of the delegates declared that it was a national duty. It was contended that under the present arrangement whereby the government provided $100 for the last sickness and burial of a pensioner, in the past, when the government has had to pay for the burial of soldiers, the case had been handed to some undertaker without the government having any record of such burial; and in some cases veterans have been buried in five-year graves and their identity will be completely lost within a very short time.

It was the opinion of the convention that veterans who have fought for the Empire should not at their last extremity be denied three feet of the land for the defense of which they have fought.—Calgary Herald.

United States, but owing to the great scarcity of high grades this was lifted in December. It was the evident expectation of the people on the other side of the line that in view of the prices obtainable that the market would be flooded with the Canadian product, and that prices would slump. In the meantime, however, James Stewart, the chairman of the Canadian Wheat Board sat pat, with the result that in regulating the shipments of wheat the high prices were maintained. It is stated on the best authority that he actually sold some of the wheat in Calgary at $3.25 a bushel, payable in American money, which brought the price of the wheat up to about $4 a bushel. The contention of this wheat man is that the establishment of a minimum price by the government would prevent the wholesale movement of wheat to be slaughtered at low prices.

It is interesting to note that in the price mentioned by Mr. Wood, of $2.50 a bushel, that this would be 16 cents under last year's price as the participation certificates were now worth 50 cents a bushel.—Calgary Herald.

IS SEEKING
SINN FEIN

LONDON, Oct. 9.—Lloyd George is expected to make another bid for peace with Sinn Fein today. It is understood authoritatively that he will not recede from the position already outlined on the present Home Rule bill, but in addition he is prepared to offer Ireland: (1) A form of fiscal independence, provided that guarantees be given she will not shirk a fair proportion of the British war debt. (2) A position for Southern Ireland on equality with other dominions, by which they will have the right for consultation as to foreign affairs and a revision of treaties.

Regarding Ulster, he refuses to make any change in the provisions of the Home Rule Bill. Great pressure has been brought to bear on the premier for modification here, but even after a conference with Lord Grey this week, he has stood unchanged. Lloyd George sincerely believes that the moderate elements of all parties in Ireland, including the Sinn Fein, are willing to accept a liberal form of home rule which will not endanger Great Britain and at the same time not coerce Ulster. He is determined to put such a scheme over, even if he has to oppose all the radicals in Ireland to accomplish it.—Calgary Herald.

EXCHANGE RATE
IS HARMFUL TO CANADA

The exchange premium on the Canadian dollar which has been for some time retarding the Dominion's export trade, is now hindering immigration. The Canadian immigration authorities in London, England, have been notified that a curious state of affairs exists at Basle, Switzerland, where hundreds of prospective emigrants to Canada have been hung up because the low exchange value of currency in their countries in which they reckoned their funds made it impossible for them to proceed.

Basle has been long recognized as a distributing centre for immigration from the continent and is the home of steamship agencies and others engaged in passenger forwarding. They report that scores of immigrants from Rumania, Armenia, Jugo-Slavia and other countries are constantly arriving with the intention of proceeding to Canada with the intention of taking up land or obtain employment. In many cases, however, what they have reckoned small fortunes have when reckoned with Canadian money, proven insufficient even to buy their steamship tickets. With all their plans upset these people are in an unfortunate situation. As a result of the situation in Poland, immigration from that country, which promised to be very heavy, has been suspended. The government will not allow any citizens to leave.—Family Herald.

45,000,000 POUND
CATCH OF MACKEREL

Modern Isaac Waltons have an illustrious example in the person of Capt. John Seavey of the crack schooner Arthur James of Boothbay harbor, Me., who has 45,000,000 pounds of mackerel on his string according to an account in the United States newspaper.

Unlike ordinary fishermen Capt. Seavey, who in the parlance of his crew is the "high line mackerel killer of the north Atlantic," has official records to back his story. Most of his catch has been cooked and eaten long since, for it took him forty-five years to land it, the average being a little over 500 tons a year. He is credited with having taken more mackerel than any other skipper in the Atlantic coast fleet.

According to the old time fishermen's theory that the "first hundred years at sea are the hardest," Capt. Seavey is almost halfway and another quarter of a century will see him in sight of that fishermen's paradise where the fish jump into the boat and there's always a spanking breeze for the homeward trip.

Each year the captain follows the mackerel run north, landing his first cargoes along the Jersey shore, then continuing north as far as Nova Scotia. Last month he landed fish at New York and later at Newport, R.I., but his fare which put him over the 45,000,000 mark was landed at Boston.

This year Capt. Seavey took 50,000 pounds of mackerel in the first twelve days of May, footing up $12,898. But there is another side of the game, for during the four weeks prior to the big haul he had not found a single fish. Last year the Arthur James, under Capt. Seavey, stocked $24,000; in 1918, $40,000; in 1917, $36,000, and in 1916, $42,000—a total of $142,000 for the four years.—Family Herald.

MAKING EFFORT TO AGAIN IMPOSE
WHEAT CONTROL

OTTAWA, Oct. 7.—It is believed that a strong effort is being made to have wheat control re-imposed, to take effect with the present crop, and although not much has been said openly, it is known that very strong pressure is now being exerted with the government from the west in this direction. The drop in grain prices has alarmed the farmers, and they are preparing for a general agitation to have control re-imposed.

They will not be without support in high quarters apparently, as the minister of finance is said to have heard their representatives very sympathetically, and to have been considerably impressed with the necessity of re-imposing control. It is understood that he has communicated his views to that effect to other members of the government, where they have been received with somewhat mixed feelings.

When the matter of control was discussed in the house, it was stated by the government that control was assumed because no orders were coming for Canadian wheat owing to overseas and American control, coupled with the lack of banking facilities. Wheat appeared likely to be congested in the west, and on that account only the government stepped in.

Sir George Foster stated in the house: "I am hoping that if de-control takes place, wheat will not have to be controlled again, but one cannot tell." At the same time, Mr. Crerar warned against a contingency which appears to have now arrived, saying that he could not imagine anything more unfortunate in its results and more difficult to work out than to have the markets open a few months and then closed again, and the activities of the Wheat Board resumed. Sir George Foster agreed with this view. It is probable therefore, that the view of the majority of the cabinet is against present interference.—Calgary Herald.

50 P.C. INCREASE IN
EXPORTATIONS

The government of Alberta has backed up the efforts of the coal operators of the province this summer in their efforts to develop the summer trade in coal, and the result of their joint endeavor is seen in a fifty per cent. increase in exportations.

Figures just issued show that the output of Alberta mines up to the end of July in this year was 3,043,940 tons compared with 2,068,907 for the same period last year. Operators state also that there has been more coal marketed in the same period than in any corresponding period in the history of coal production in Alberta.

The Alberta government, during recent months, has carried on an advertising campaign in Saskatchewan and Manitoba newspapers, urging the advantage of Alberta coal and impressing upon the public the advantages of putting in their winter's supply without delay, before the movement of the crops renders difficult the transportation problem.

This campaign has been supported by local dealers everywhere, and the increasing scarcity and advancing cost of anthracite has made their work easier.

Alberta coal operators claim that a favorable freight rate is an essential if they are to find a large market in Manitoba and the eastern provinces, and declare that increased freight rates on their product would deal a "staggering blow" to the industry. They point out that the coal deposits of the province are enormous and that ten million tons a year would be but a fraction of the possible production.—Family Herald.

A CALGARY MAN GETS MILLION

CALGARY, Oct. 9.—This happens every little while, and it happened to Fred James, an employee in the cutlery department of the firm of Wood Vallance and Adams, a wholesale hardware firm in Calgary, has been notified by a firm of solicitors in England that he is heir to something like a million dollars, in round figures, left by his brother. Mr. James is leavish with his wife in a few days for the Old Country where he will enter into the possession of his bequest.

The father of Mrs. James had made considerable sums of money in South Africa, and on his death the fortune had been left to the eldest son. This son was badly wounded during the war, and has since died as a result.—Lethbridge Herald.

As the Duke of Leame who weds a simple peasant girl, Mr. Moore is seen to best advantage.

SOLICIT CALDER
AGAIN TO HAVE
WHEAT CONTROL

REGINA, Oct. 8.—The farmers of Saskatchewan are on the trail of Hon. J. A. Calder. Hot from the convention floor, where they have been debating political organization, a delegation of three of the new National party supporters were yesterday sent out to hunt the highways and byways of Regina, and if necessary, make a trip to Moose Jaw to present to the federal minister a demand for the restoration of the Wheat Board.

Mr. Calder was found in Regina. In promising to bring the matter before the attention of the government, he referred the delegates to the speeches of their own men, J. A. Maharg, Hon. T. A. Crerar, J. F. Reed, O. R. Gould and Dr. Clark, in parliament. He said he could not recall that of these men any had insisted on wheat control. He told them they would take no decided stand, and when control was established, Mr. Maharg had opposed it utterly.

"As usual," he said, "they were prepared to let the government take its own course, and if things did not turn out right they would have an opportunity to attack and criticize. The government," he said, "had sought advice and failed to get it definitely and clearly from the source it might reasonably expect to advise them."

Mr. Calder further wanted to know if it were the wish of the deputation that the Canadian government should put the gun to the head of Lloyd George and demand that the British government should buy Canadian wheat at a higher price than now prevailing in the Liverpool market.

The farmers have been in convention two days in all, 16 federal constituencies of Saskatchewan being represented.

Here are some of their decisions: A resolution urging support for prohibition.

That a "liberty drive" will be staged in November to raise campaign funds. It was decided to incorporate the central body rather than the constituency committees in an effort to comply with the recent federal legislation governing the disbursement of campaign funds.

The organization will be incorporated as the New National Policy Association.—Calgary Herald.

WINNIPEG, Oct. 9.—The total field crops of Canada will this year reach nearly 1,250,000,000 bushels, while the products of hay and corn will exceed 25,000,000 tons, as compared with over 1,000,000,000 bushels of grain and 20,000,000 tons of hay and corn in 1919, according to official figures compiled by J. Bruce Walker, director of publicity for the department of immigration and colonization.

It is estimated that the price of 1920 wheat will average $2 per bushel said Mr. Walker. The field crops of Canada represent about $170 per head of the population as compared with $110 per head in the United States.—Calgary Herald.

TORONTO, Oct. 8.—Two Ontario mining companies, one gold and one silver, will embark upon coal mining in Alberta as a result of permission given yesterday to this end. The McIntyre Porcupine Mines, Limited, and the Temiskaming Mining Company will buy the big diamond coal mines and secure an option on Canadian coal fields, two properties located about two hundred miles west of Edmonton.—Calgary Herald.

ATTENTION OFFICERS OF THE CANADIAN AIR FORCE

The Provisional Graduation List of officers in the Canadian Air Force has been received at the Provincial Headquarters, and copies are being distributed to the local Aero Clubs throughout the province.

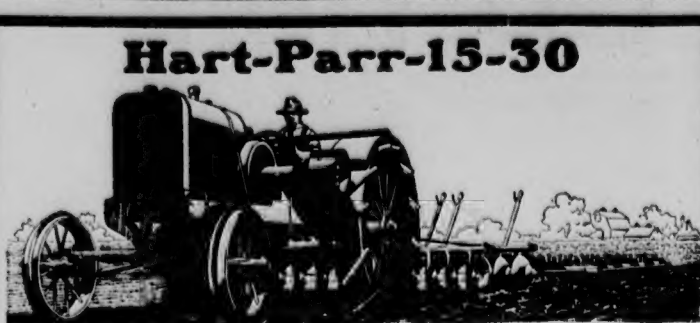

It is pointed out that mistakes have inevitably been made in compiling this list, and officers thus affected should write the Air Officer Commanding, through the Provincial Secretary, setting forth any injustices in seniority and submitting proofs as to conviction of these injustices. The regular list will be issued about December 1, 1920.

Officers of all ranks whose names appear on the first ten sheets, about five hundred and eighty in number will now be accepted for twenty-eight days' training at Camp Borden. One officer from this province is required to report at the camp on Friday of each week. Those wishing to take advantage in the immediate future of this tour of training should at once make application by letter, stating a choice of two or more dates. They will then be despatched to the camp at the time as near as possible to one of the dates requested. For Alberta members the necessary amount of time for the tour is thirty-six days, eight days being occupied in travelling.

All correspondence should be addressed to the Provincial Secretary of Alberta, Edmonton; it is contrary to regulations for members to write directly to Headquarters at Ottawa.

LONDON, Oct. 7.—Rumor is busy in court circles regarding the proposed visit of Princess Mary and Duke of York to Canada next Spring. It is said that the only objection now is the cost, which the king does not regard as a proper charge on the national exchequer, but which both their majesties may regard at the present high cost of living period, as being too heavy a burden for their private purse.—Calgary Herald.

voice his life away, and then without a quiver on his face sat down. Not until policemen handcuffed him again and were leading him down the hall on the ground floor did Bassoff show signs of human feelings. He appeared dejected and looked neither to the right nor left but on the floor all the time and was hunched more than ever. Bassoff has gained thirty pounds since he was arrested and outside of a little palor he appeared to be in good condition. But he has not lost the frown on his face that was apparent during the preliminary hearing. It was there all during the sittings here of the past two days. Today one could get some idea of what Bassoff looked like when he was arrested. He had not been shaved since Monday and his heavy growth of black hair was beginning to make itself evident. His hair was long around his bullet head and with very little imagination one could mentally draw the picture of Bassoff the night Engineer Hammond picked out his form two miles west of Pincher Station in the headlight of his engine.

Return of the Jury

Amid a silence that could almost be felt the jury filed back to its place on the east side of the court room. Judge McCarthy took his seat and the foreman in answer to the usual question only answered, "Guilty of murder." From the many women and girls in the audience a sound of sympathy rose but from the men in the court nothing was heard.

For the afternoon session the court was more crowded than in the morning, nearly as many being present as during the opening session on Tuesday. More women and girls were present this afternoon than at any session of the court during the two days.

Saw Bassoff Shoot Bailey

In giving evidence Joseph H. Robertson described how he saw Bassoff shoot Bailey, as the constable was raising from his prostrate position. In answer to a question Mr. Robertson threw out his arm at full length and cried out:

"That prisoner at the bar is Tom Bassoff. That is the man I saw in Bellevue and that is the man I saw shoot Bailey."

Up to this time Bassoff had not given much outward sign of knowing what was being said but at the above declaration he noticeably started and raised his face to the witness, something he very seldom does.

Continuing the witness said: "He saw me and turned two guns on me. I went to the butcher store but felt I was not sufficiently well protected and moved behind the telephone pole. Bassoff went to where Arkoff was and of course I was behind the pole. I took a couple of shots at him." Previous evidence was to the effect that Robertson had a 22 revolver and that the post was ninety feet from where Arkoff fell.

His declaration about taking a couple of shots at the escaping man with the 22 pulled a laugh from Bassoff.

William I. Evans, who at the time of the shooting was getting shaved and Arthur Charlesworth, who was looking out of the pool room window both testified that Bassoff shot Bailey.

J. D. Matheson, who was assigned by the court to defend the prisoner on the morning of the trial, put up an able defence, especially in view of the short notice for preparation, and his capable address to the jury will long be remembered by hearers as a masterly plea in a lost cause.

Applied for Dismissal

Mr. Matheson discharged his first gain when he applied for a dismissal on the grounds of wrongful arrest insofar that he claimed no evidence had been given to prove the officers who were attempting to arrest Bassoff or who finally arrested him had any jurisdiction in the Pincher and Bellevue territory.

The defence lawyer then charged that Frewin did not carry out the law in the manner in which he attempted to make the arrest in the Bellevue cafe, when the shooting occurred and Mr. Matheson claimed that Frewin, through his actions in showing his gun at Arkoff's, made himself an assaulting person in the eyes of the law. He argued with Judge McCarthy that Frewin knowing the character of these men, should not have had his revolver drawn when he entered the booth and also should have informed the bandits concerning why the police wanted them. Continuing he said, there would have been plenty of time after that for Frewin to pull his gun.

Bandits Use of Guns

The lawyer maintained that Frewin's actions gave the bandits a perfect right to use their guns, as he argued, that law allows force to be answered by force when used in self-defence.

"These men were assaulted instead of being arrested," he charged. "I claim this man was justified under the law in repelling force by force and with doing everything he is charged with.

The statutes say an officer must tell a man of the charge when it is practicable. Judge McCarthy did not think it was practicable in this case.

"If there is anything in our objection it should have been taken before the magistrate at the preliminary hearing. A lawyer appeared before the magistrate with no exceptions and it is too late now. I doubt if there is anything in your objections and I must rule against you," said Judge McCarthy.

Mr. Matheson did not offer any evidence for his defence and Crown Prosecutor J. W. McDonald, opened his address to the jury. He opened his remarks by arguing that Frewin could not have acted in any other manner. In regard to the difference in Frewin's evidence about blood on Bailey's head Mr. McDonald argued that too much reliability must not be put on the officer's statements about what occurred after he left the booth as Frewin was not clear as to when the dazed feeling overtook him.

Blaming it on Arkoff

Referring Mr. Matheson's proposition that Arkoff did the shooting Mr. McDonald said that Arkoff was so badly wounded that it would be practically impossible for him to shoot straight enough to hit a man.

During his opening remarks to the jury Mr. Matheson spoke of British freedom and referred to an iron cage around above the prisoner's dock. He hinted that it was not there because the crown considered its case so weak it needed a little stage play. The evidence, he said, was filled up with contradiction and discrepancies and if a verdict of murder was going to be returned, he argued, it is necessary to have the chain of evidence tight and complete. Continuing he enlarged on his theory that Arkoff did the shooting and tried to substantiate this by pointing out that no evidence has been given of the finding of bullet holes in the sidewalk where the constable fell.

In answer Mr. McDonald claimed Bassoff and Arkoff knew the constables were police officers by their uniforms and should have quietly submitted to arrest.

The Judge's Charge

Judge McCarthy during his summing up stated definitely that there was no grounds for a manslaughter charge and Bassoff, he said, must either be found guilty of murder or allowed his freedom.

Legal talent present were unanimously of the opinion that Judge McCarthy's charge to the jury was one of the ablest expositions of law and fact ever delivered in historic Macleod.

EXTRACTS FROM MACKENZIE KING'S CALGARY SPEECH

(From the Calgary Herald.)

Characterizing the attitude of the Union government toward the returned soldiers as "sheer hypocrisy," Hon. W. L. Mackenzie King, new leader of the federal opposition, brought a new gun into action Monday night in the battery he is directing against Premier Arthur Meighen's ministry. A crowd that packed Victoria pavilion in the exhibition grounds to its 3,500 capacity, heard Mr. King and other members of his party assail the Union government from every angle.

"If the finances of the country are such that, in the judgment of the government, they will permit of large outlays for military and naval expenditures," declared Mr. King, at one stage of his address, "there can be no truth in the statement that the finances are insufficient to admit of more being done for the returned soldiers and the dependents of those who have lost their lives and sacrificed their health in the country's service."

Due Recognition

"The attitude of the state towards the returned men and the dependents of others, in all that relates to their need, should be one of generosity and of due recognition of their service to the cause of freedom. There may be cases where the amount required to meet the existing need will vastly exceed anything that has thus far been suggested by way of general gratuity; in such cases the need should determine the allowance to be made by the state.

"What is needed in Canada today is not increased militia and police, but increased production. At present there are 194 armories and drill halls owned by the government and 25 experimental farms carried on under its direction. In the province of Ontario there are two federal experimental farms and 107 drill halls and armories. Surely these facts speak for themselves. Whatever the military and police necessity may have been in the past, the need today is not for men brigaded in forces and housed in barracks, but for men on the farms developing the great industries of the country. We have had enough of repressive and destructive agencies; we need now revived interest in the work of construction. For war scarcity and extravagance, we need peace, plenty and retrenchment. This is the policy to which the Liberal party is committed.

High Cost of Living

"Another aim which all progressive groups have in common, especially those who are giving consideration primarily to the well-being of the people at large, is relief from the burdens of taxation which, since the war, have become extremely onerous, and a reduction in the high cost of living. It has become the most serious problem with which the people of Canada are faced at the present time, and with which they are likely to be faced for many years to come. Is it not true that there is hardly a farmer of moderate or limited means that is not in a more difficult position today in the matter of obtaining the most fundamental and ordinary needs than it was but a few years ago? Is it not also true that many families and many individuals are experiencing real hardships and privation as a consequence of the increase in prices, rates and rents, which have been continuous now over a period of many years. I believe it is the case, not in Europe only, but right here in our Dominion, that children and, for that matter, adults, in many parts, are being insufficiently clad, inadequately fed and improperly housed, owing to the cost of living being what it is today. What mental and physical suffering is, in these very days, being experienced by thousands who face the terrors of sickness, unemployment, invalidity, dependence in old age, is something known only to those who are called upon to endure them; but it is something which should stir to action every individual in the nation who cares more for human well-being than material power, and who values human life more than wealth.

Extravagance of Government
"It is true that the cost of living is due in large measure to conditions arising out of the war and which affects all nations; it is none the less true, however, that in Canada the problem has been aggravated by the extravagance of the government, and the unwillingness or inadequacy of the ministry to find and adopt measures which of themselves are capable of affording considerable relief. "First there is retrenchments and economy in public expenditures; second, a downward revision of the tariff in the interests of the consumers and producers; and, third, the elimination of profiteering. There may be differences of degree in measures advocated by different groups to secure these great imperative National ends, but there is substantial agreement on the objects themselves and, also I believe, in the wisdom of the policy of the Liberal party with respect thereto. Against the common purpose and aim of the progressive groups there stands the unrelenting opposition of the present administration, as evidenced by its attitude and acts. Let me briefly speak of each of these necessary reforms in turn.

"First, as to the need for retrenchment and economy in public expenditures. To appreciate aright how all important this is, it is necessary that we should have a just appreciation of the country's present financial condition, and the extent of the burden which, for generations to come, will have to be borne in consequence by the Canadian people. Take first of all the public debt of this country. I shall omit reference to the gross debt and give only the net debt, and that you may appreciate the significance of the increase, I shall give you the figures of ten years ago as contrasted with the debt of today.

Was Perfectly Clear

"It is perfectly clear that while the government of the day has wholly lost the confidence of the people of Canada, they are able to maintain office by virtue only of the support of the big interests by which they have been brought into being, and by the division which they see in the ranks of those by whom they are opposed; and their method of warfare is to keep divided the hosts that are against them. Behind the barrage of a continuous and costly propaganda, financed by the special interests of this country, they consolidate co-operation among the groups of special privilege and accumulate the vast reserve which they hope to turn to effective account the moment the real campaign begins.

"In the face of a situation, so fully obvious, it should be not less the aim of the progressive forces, of all those who have aims and objects in common, and who feel and think alike on national issues and national problems, to endeavor to effect a like consolidation and co-operation, placing their reliance for ultimate victory, however, not on the promise of special favors to any interest or class, or upon any reserve or wealth, but upon the votes of the men and women who desire above all else honest, efficient and progressive government, and the furtherance through the agencies of the government of principles and policies framed in the interest of the people at large.

Outlays on Navy

"In view of these facts and of the financial burdens being what they are, we contend that these enormous military and police expenditures, which amount to attempted introduction in our country of the European system of standing armies and wasteful extravagance, but are equally evidences of culpable indifference to the financial condition of the country amounting, one might say, to a national crime on the part of the administration.

"That you may appreciate how serious this matter is, and how insidious is the government's method of proceeding in the matter of these military and police expenditures, may I cite what took place at the last session of parliament. When the main estimates were brought down, they indicated, as regards a naval expenditure, a proposed outlay of $300,000 or a sum of only half the amount the

RETURNED SOLDIER'S INSURANCE ACT

All returned soldiers and their families will be interested in the Returned Soldier's Insurance Act, under which they are provided with an opportunity of obtaining Life Insurance at most favourable rates. The Act became effective on September 1st, 1920, and will remain in force for two years.

Under the provisions of the Act any honorably discharged soldier, sailor or nurse of the Canadian Forces domiciled and resident in Canada, may insure with the government to an amount of from $500.00 to $5,000.00. Under certain conditions the widow of a returned soldier, who died subsequent to discharge, may also obtain insurance.

In addition to former members of the C. E. F., the privileges of the Act are available to anyone, male or female who served during the late war in the Imperial Army or with the Forces of any of the allied or associated powers, providing they were domiciled and resident in Canada before the war and hold an honorable discharge.

May of those who served overseas while not suffering from a severe disability, find that their physical condition is such that they are unable to obtain life insurance at all or only at much higher rates than normally demanded. They, therefore, find themselves severely handicapped in providing protection for their dependents. Under the Returned Soldier's Insurance Act all returned men are placed on an equal basis as on medical examination is required.

The premium rates are low. They vary with the age of the insured and the plan of insurance chosen. At the age of twenty-five a straight life policy for $1000.00, costs $1.24 per month. At the age of thirty-five the rate of $1.70 per month. Beneficiaries are limited in the case of a married man to his wife and children. An unmarried man or a widower without children is required to name his future wife and children as beneficiaries. Should the insured die unmarried the insurance money may be paid to one or more of his immediate relatives according to his will.

An exceptional advantage of this insurance is the provision made for a disability benefit. Under this section should the policy holder become totally and permanently disabled he is relieved from paying further premiums and the insurance money is paid to him direct in annual instalments equal to one-twentieth of the total amount of the policy.

Booklets explaining the Act, and application forms may be obtained from mail branches of the Great War Veterans' Association; The Soldiers' Aid Commission; Imperial Veterans of Canada; Department of Soldiers' Civil Re-establishment; Military District Headquarters and District Offices of the Board of Pension Commissioners; or direct from the Commissioners, Returned Soldiers' Insurance, Transportation Building, Ottawa.

POLICY OF THE NAVY LEAGUE OF CANADA

In connection with the Dominion wide campaign for funds to be carried on by the Navy League of Canada during the week that included the anniversary of Nelson's great victory at Trafalgar, the heroic pinnacle of all the traditions of the British Navy. Citizens will be interested to know just what the peace time policy of the Navy League is to finance which, the present campaign is being inaugurated:

Policy

1. To disseminate among the people of Canada a knowledge of the necessity and use of sea power as the keystone of Empire and National defence and commercial prosperity.
2. The advocacy of a policy that Canada shall assume her proper share of the cost and maintenance of protecting her own trade routes and coast defences.
3. The advocacy of a marine policy that will tend to build up our mercantile tonnage.
4. The advocacy of the establishment of naval reserve force composed of Canadian officers and men who have served either in the Imperial or Canadian Naval forces.
5. The support of all just claims of officers and men of the Royal Canadian Navy and its auxiliaries with regard to pay and pensions, and that merchant officers and men in times of war be put on an equal footing with regard to pay and pensions with officers and men of the Royal Canadian Navy.
6. The support of sailor's institutes in Canadian ports to better the conditions of the merchant seamen when ashore.
7. The application of steady pressure upon Parliament and the government for the most efficient administration of the Department of Naval Service and the abandonment of the present system of the portfolio of Marine Fisheries and Naval Defence being under one minister.
8. The application of steady pressure upon all citizens enjoying the Canadian Franchise to see to it that our public men and members of Parliament shall insist upon the administration of our marine policy being free from partisan action.
9. The encouragement and extension of Naval Colleges and of the Boy's Naval Brigade movement, and the establishment of proper training institutions, with a view to the preparation of boys and men for a seafaring career to the ultimate end that all Canadian ships shall be manned by British-born and elimination of aliens from the Mercantile Marine.

The Campaign

The direct purpose of the Navy League campaign is to secure a fund of $750,000 of which the quota for Manitoba is $30,000, Saskatchewan $30,000, Alberta $30,000 and British Columbia $25,000, by far the major amount of the campaign fund is expected to be raised in eastern Canada. The money will be used for the principle purpose of putting into effect the policy determined upon by the Navy League during the late war. Namely, of instituting permanent schools for naval training in all parts of Canada for carrying out the program of national education which would keep the inland area of Canada fully awake to the necessity of maintaining an adequate Canadian merchant marine.

"Canadian ships to be manned by Canadian sailors to carry Canadian products" is the peace time slogan of the Navy League of Canada.

CLEVELAND WINS WORLD'S BASEBALL CHAMPIONSHIP

LEAGUE PARK, CLEVELAND, O., Oct. 12.—Cleveland, the American League pennant winners, are the world's baseball champions of 1920. They defeated the Brooklyn's by the score of 3 to 0 today, and won the great championship in baseball. The Pole, Coveleskie, in winning his third game of the series, held Brooklyn helpless. The series ended with five victories for Cleveland and two for the National League champions.

Summary of Games

EBBETS FIELD, Brooklyn, Oct. 5.—Cleveland topped over the Brooklyn's by a score of 3 to 1 in the first game of the world's series. The National League champions were helpless before the mystifying slants of the big spitball pitcher, Coveleskie. He was given striking support by the Clevelanders, especially Speaker, who ranged far and near, robbing the hapless Brooklyn's of seeming runs. O'Neill starred at the bat with two doubles. The official attendance was 23,894.

EBBETS FIELD, Brooklyn, Oct. 6.—Burleigh Grimes fitted a fine coat of whitewash to the backs of the Cleveland Indians today, and the Brooklyn's, champions of the National League, walked off the field with a 3 to 0 victory in the second game of the world's series. Grimes' spitball tied the backs of the Clevelanders in knots, while Brooklyn's hitting was timely, the National League club getting their hits in clusters, which meant runs. Perusal of the box score will show how Cleveland came a cropper and Brooklyn evened the series. Each club now has won a game apiece.

EBBETS FIELD, Brooklyn, Oct. 7.—Sherry Smith's southpaw curves were poison to the Cleveland Indians today and the Brooklyn Dodgers made off with the third game of the world's series by a score of 2 to 1.

Smith allowed but three scattered hits. Speaker's double to left which went through Wheat's legs and which allowed the Cleveland leader to score, was the only time the Indians proved dangerous.

Caldwell, who opened the game for the visitors, lasted but one-third of an inning. The Dodgers opened up with a brace of hits which, coupled with a bobble by Sewell, gave the Brooklyn team sufficient runs to win.

Mails and Smith staged a pretty pitching duel from then until a pinch hitter forced Mails out in the eighth inning.

LEAGUE PARK, CLEVELAND.

Oct. 9.—The Clevelanders romped off with the fourth game of the world's series in easy fashion, trampling over the prostrate form of the Brooklyn Nationals by a score of 5 to 1. Coveleskie's potent pitching stopped the Brooklyn's cold. Brooklyn used four pitchers to stop the eruption of hits from the Indians—Calgary Herald.

CLEVELAND, Oct. 10.—In a game filled with sensational situations beyond the wildest dreams of fiction, the Cleveland Americans defeated the Brooklyn Nationals 8 to 1, in the fifth game of the world's series here this afternoon. An unassisted triple play by William Wambogans, a native son of Cleveland and home runs by Elmer Smith and Jim Bagley were individual feats that will linger in the memory.

The victory broke the tie existing between the two teams and tonight Cleveland is confident that the world's series banner is within its grasp.

The Dodgers, crushed by the two reverses of Saturday and today, are clinging desperately tonight to the hope that Sherrod Smith, their left hander may be able to check the savage batting onslaught of the Indians tomorrow, but in view of Cleveland everything is over but the shouting. The Indians believe they have solved the mystery of the Brooklyn pitching staff.

Two Records

Two records were established during the hectic hour and forty-nine minutes occupied by today's contest. Never before in a world's series had a triple play been made by one player. So seldom has this feat been accomplished in any league that many fans recount the occasion from memory. A home run with the bases full was the other history-making incident. Another home run, four doubles and a score fielding and batting were thrown in for good measure.

Wambogans' feat is a Cleveland specialty, it seems. If the annals of baseball are to be relied upon triple plays have been accomplished only 11 times and only twice in major leagues. Neal Ball, of the Cleveland club of 1909 carried out a triple play unassisted. In a game between the Boston Red Sox and the Indians played July 19 of that year, Stahl was on the first and Wagner at second, with McConnell at bat when Ball pulled this great play. Today, the stage setting was much the same.

Cleveland's attack opened with another play that would have been a feature under any other circumstances.

With the bases loaded with Indians, who had made three singles in succession, Elmer Smith stepped to the plate and catching one of Grimes' fast spitballs on the end of his bat, lifted the ball over the fence and cleared the bases.

In the fifth, after two were on, pitcher Bagley hit another homer. Never before in such a series have the first seven runs of a game been scored on home runs.

LEAGUE PARK, Cleveland, Oct. 11. The Cleveland Indians shut out the Brooklyn Dodgers by a score of 1 to 0 today and have the world's series championship almost won. It was a pitching duel between two left-handers, "Duster" Mails for the Indians and Sherrod Smith for the Dodgers. The tide turned in favor of the home folks in the sixth innings when Speaker singled and Burns smashed a double to the fence for the scoring run, the only one of the game.—Calgary Herald.

OTTAWA, Oct. 9.—While advices are still lacking as to the exact date on which the small fleet which has been presented to Canada by the British Admiralty will leave for this side of the Atlantic, the hope is expressed that the departure of the vessels will not be delayed beyond the first week in November.

Should the warships start for Canada early in November it will still be possible to carry out the plan to have them come up the St. Lawrence river as far as Montreal before the close of navigation. In addition to the cruiser Aurora and the destroyers Patricia and Patriot, the little flotilla will include two modern submarines.—Calgary Herald.

MONTREAL, Oct. 8.—A case declared to be without precedent in the legal annals of this province, was decided here yesterday when Sarto Marchand, minor, sued through his tutor and uncle, Alphonse Marchand, and obtained judgment against his father for $5,000 damages for injuries suffered through being crushed under his father's automobile.—Calgary Herald.

WHEAT GAMBLING

It would probably not be divulging a secret to say that wheat gambling as carried on by stock exchange manipulators is and has been for years a source of gravest menace to agricultural interests in every wheat growing country. Without doubt it elicits the farmers—producers as the goat in a framed game—makes of him the come-on in a gigantic legalized swindle. During the strenuous war-time need of production the government in recognition of this protected the wheat grower by the obviating of manipulation by the institution of government control of wheat prices—this worked out a fair price and stable market—why not continue it? If there is not undue manipulation of wheat prices by stock exchange methods for what legitimate reasons do seats on the Winnipeg Stock Exchange sell for $25,000.00. The crying need of the Alberta farmer is a stabilized wheat market and this can be attained only by return to government control and entire abolition of stock exchange manipulation for all time.

The Calgary Morning Albertan puts it mildly as follows:

"There is a general opinion among grain men in this part of the country that the recent slump in the price of wheat, which has been creating an uncertain and panicky condition not only among grain sellers but among all producers, might have been avoided had the policy of national marketing been continued. Grain dealers themselves do not deny that the slump might have been avoided entirely or at least have been greatly modified, had the old Canada Wheat Board continued to operate.

"There was no real objection urged to the administration of the Canada Wheat Board. It carried on very successfully. It got for the farmer for his grain more than he expected. It conducted the business in a most businesslike manner.

"There was only one argument used when the change back was made. That was that grain was being marketed by a national organization rather than by private organizations.

"Sir George Foster and other members of the government side, including T. M. Tweedie, if we are not mistaken, were insistent that we should get back to pre-war conditions as speedily as possible. If we had learned anything during the war which would be of permanent value to the country, such as the economy of national marketing of grain, we should forget it as soon as possible. That was practically the only argument or explanation used.

"And the government acted. And the grain conditions rapidly became chaotic, and speculation ensued with as much freedom as before the war, and the slump came, which threatens not merely the grain trade, but other business. This would have been prevented, perhaps, certainly very much modified, under the system of national marketing.

"The government, of course, can restore the system of national marketing at some little inconvenience and loss. But the lesson that we should not abandon something of real value learned during the war, merely to become like we were in pre-war days, has been learned at some considerable cost."

FRAGMENTS FROM SPEECHES

The contents of the following article applies in varied degrees to each and every school district in the province. It is not intended to refer particularly to this or any other individual school district.

The large per cent of failures at the last departmental examinations in June, this year, was due to many causes. Below are given the chief causes as seen by several prominent men who have given the topic careful consideration. They are not presented as the ideas of the under-signed but are other people's opinions passed on for what they are worth:

1. On account of the Spanish influenza during the school session of 1918-1919 (that was session before last) almost every school was closed for several months at least. Some were closed seven months out of the ten; in other words, some students could attend school only three months out of the whole session. As the examinations at the end of the session 1918-1919 were easy, thousands of students were promoted who were not at all prepared for the next grade. Consequently last season, 1919-20 thousands of students had to learn not only the work of the grade into which they had been promoted, but also a large portion of the work of the previous grade.

2. Owing to the Dominion wide condition of the book market, schools were unable to obtain the prescribed text books at the beginning of the term. Certain books were not "in print" until late in October or November. Similar conditions exist this year also.

3. A spirit of unrest prevailed all over Canada throughout the last two years. Everything seemed to be in a turmoil. The schools along with other institutions felt its disquieting influences. Teachers, parents and students were affected. No atmosphere of "study" prevailed. Students, teachers and parents thought and talked of everything except quiet and thoughtful study.

When it comes to physique, intelligence and industry, the girls and boys of Alberta would be second to none in all Canada, if parents and teachers would co-operate in working for their best interests.

Respectfully submitted,

COLIN B. FAULKNER.

WEDDING BELLS

A quiet wedding took place in Macleod on Monday, October 11th, when Miss Dora Westhaver, of this town and Mr. George Palmer, of Drumheller, were joined in matrimony by the Rev. Mr. Day.

After the ceremony which was witnessed by a few personal friends of the bride and groom the young couple boarded the train for Calgary where they expect to spend a few days before going east.

The young people are widely known in this district, having lived here for a number of years, Mr. Palmer being one of the originals who left Macleod for overcast in August, 1914. He is now actively engaged in the labor movement and has gained considerable prominence as a writer on industrial matters.

Miss Westhaver is the eldest daughter of A. E. Westhaver, a farmer living south of town and is a girl well liked by all who know her.

The "Times" joins with the young couples many friends in wishing them a happy journey on the sea of matrimony.

A successful plant for the manufacture of agar-agar from seaweed has been established at Los Angeles, California. Agar-agar is a pearly-white, shiny product, invaluable to the medical profession, and an important food adjunct. It is used extensively throughout the world as a wholesome and delicious thickener in jellies and soups. It is also largely employed in the sizing of textiles, for stiffening the warp of silks, for clarifying beer, wines and coffee, and in the making moulds in plaster of Paris. Hospitals use it in large quantities as a culture media for bacteria.

A thousand rumors do not make one single fact

ALL of us want to believe the rumors regarding further reduction in foot-wear prices. If they were founded on fact—or even probability—we would have been ahead of Rumor in announcing the good news.

BUT rumor, as usual, ignores the one fact that controls the situation—that prices to the retailer are governed by the cost of raw materials and labor.

High prices are not of our making or seeking. They have been imposed upon us and you by the tremendously increased cost of every single thing that enters into the making of shoes.

And these high material costs, together with to-day's wage scale, which govern and dictate our shoe prices, show no immediate tendency to permanently seek lower levels.

THAT is why we cannot make any definite promise to you that our prices to the retailer will be any lower this season than those in effect for Spring, 1921, styles.

Irresponsible Rumor ignores these facts—delights in "sensational news"—and, as is so often the case, hurts everybody indiscriminately until its falseness and viciousness become apparent.

We appreciate our responsibility to you; we want to help towards cheaper living and we are earnestly striving to improve matters. We ask your confidence and belief to encourage us towards that end.

OUR advice to you—and we give it in all sincerity—is to BUY NOW any shoes you need for yourself or your family for Fall and Winter. Don't buy extravagantly or recklessly, but do so carefully and judiciously.

The "whistling tree" is found in the West Indies, in Nubia and the Sudan. Its shoots are frequently distorted in shape by the agency of larvae of insects and swollen into a globular bladder from one to two inches in diameter. After the insect has emerged from a circular hole in the side of this swelling the opening played upon by the wind becomes a musical instrument, suggestive of a sweet-toned flute.

A CURE FOR DIVORCE

The divorce evil is becoming so pronounced in the United States today that serious-minded Americans are wondering how it can be scotched. Recently one judge in Detroit issued 135 divorce decrees in one day. And the state of Michigan is very moderate in its demands for divorce in comparison with such states as Nevada and California. It has been estimated that one woman in eight in California is a divorcee.

A solon of the great republic, Supreme Court Justice Russell Benedict, has just handed down an opinion to the effect that prohibition of the marriage of divorcees during the life of either party is the only practical way to cure the divorce evil. After many years experience in hearing divorce cases, he gives it as his well-considered judgment that a large proportion of divorce actions would never have been brought if the plaintiffs were prohibited from contracting a new alliance. He asserts that arrangements for marriage are often made by those who are seeking a divorce, even before the suit for separation is begun.

The opinion of this American justice will commend itself to the majority of Canadians, and will be widely approved by a large section of the population of the United States. It must be admitted that in many instances it would work hardship and injustice to persons who have become yoked with partners of criminal or immoral habits. It would never do, however, to pass a rigorous law of this kind that was qualified by exceptions. And that is just where Justice Benedict's opinion will be vulnerable if it ever comes before any of the legislative bodies in the United States.

Most of the divorce decrees granted in the neighboring republic are issued on the ground of incompatibility of temperament. This is a very loose phrase capable of the most ridiculous interpretations. It is interesting for us to remember that such a ground for divorce was first of all urged by no less a person than grave and revered John Milton, who created a sensation in the Puritan regime, by writing his divorce pamphlets, when he was feeling highly indignant and deeply mortified because his young wife, tired no doubt of his learned conversation, ran away from him and went back to her father's house. If Milton were living today, he would probably be so angry with the overworking of his original pretext for divorce that he would take it all back and would endorse the opinion of Justice Benedict.—Calgary Herald.

PLEASES WEST INDIES

Algernon Ashton, Secretary of the West India Committee, in London, Eng., when interviewed by a correspondent said he regarded the new trade agreement eminently satisfactory. They in the West Indies could appreciate the importance to Canada, situated within easy reach of tropical territory to get supplies of produce she could not raise herself. He said there is ample room in the West Indies for development for Canadian capital and brains, without raising the question of political union, which is wisely left out of the discussion.

An earlier trade agreement would have successfully diverted the flour trade to Canada, and a new agreement which is on a still broader basis would undoubtedly extend advantages to Canada thus gained. Ashton thought the agreement would check Americanization which has been going on in Jamaica and British Honduras. He was glad to note the projected improved steamer and cable services, both so badly needed.

Mr. Ashton also hoped there would be prospects of building suitable hotels and bungalows, which would attract Canadian visitors to the West Indies in winter from California and other winter resorts.—Family Herald.

MABEL NORMAND PLAYS COWGIRL ROLE

Attired in chaps, checkered skirt and boots with impressive-looking spurs, and wearing a big sombrero at a business-like angle, Mabel Normand struts through her latest Goldwyn picture, "Pinto," with all the joy that her dynamic little personality can summon up.

Miss Normand is absolutely at home in the part of a ranch girl. Her serious moments are as convincing as her comic antics. As the outraged owner of a pony stolen by Mexicans, Pinto becomes positively ferocious when she captures the thieves and demands that the cowboys beat them up. Her versatility is given a fresh field to plow in "Pinto," and she stimulates laughter, stirs sympathies and generally holds the attention in a tense grip by the sheer power of her acting.

Victor L. Schertzinger wrote the story and directed its production. His strong grasp of plot and the ability to inject human touches and light comedy into situations are noticeable in the handling of "Pinto." Every scene gives evidence of Mr. Schertzinger's directorial influence.

"Pinto" is well up to the Goldwyn standard technically. The company went to no end of trouble to secure fitting exterior locations and the stage sets represent the best efforts of a resourceful art department. The photography is of unusual quality.

To Gerald C. Duffy belongs the credit for the scenario. The picture will be presented at the Empress Theatre beginning Friday and Saturday.

WE HAVE BETTER FEET THAN OUR GRANDPARENTS

A famous general once said, "An army of consumptives, with sound feet, could outmarch, outlast and outfight an army of giants who had blisters on their heels."

This sounds absurd at first reading, but the more you think it over the more you are convinced of its truth.

A prominent Toronto firm recently had to bring one of its star salesmen in off the road, and to put him at some unimportant office work because he had a blister on his heel! This man simply could not do his work until his heel got back to normal. This sounds like a modern edition of the legend of the Greek god, Achilles, whose mother, who will remember, held him by the heel and dipped him head first in the river Styx, thereby rendering him invulnerable—all except the heel by which she had held him. It was that vulnerable spot that finally caused his defeat and death by Paris.

It is not necessary to go back many generations to find the results of improperly made and improperly fitted boots. The feet of our grandparents had to accommodate themselves to shoes that did not fit, boots that were too short or too narrow—or too wide. But things have happily changed for the better.

The feet of the present generation are developing under healthy and normal conditions. This is due to two reasons.

First, Canadian manufacturers are making shoes of such wide variety and range of size, shape and length, that every size and shape of foot can be exactly fitted. Second—the necessity is learning that it is not necessary to sacrifice comfort by wearing shoes too small in order to obtain shoes of neat appearance.

This very desirable state of affairs has been brought about by the willingness of the people to take the advice of the retailer as to what size and shape of shoes to buy for comfort, ease and long wear.

"VALUABLE SERVICE AND CHEAPEST ON EARTH"

"Do not let the subscriber or the advertiser bluff you that you are not rendering service for the money you charge," was the concluding advice of Hon. Frank Oliver in a pithy little address, delivered on Friday morning to the weekly newspaper men of Alberta assembled in convention at the Palliser hotel. He impressed upon his listeners that if they gave away something for nothing that was the value the other man would set upon it. During the morning session the Saskatchewan rate card was discussed, and upon motion of W. J. Huntingford, of Wainwright, it was decided not to adopt the Saskatchewan rates as not being applicable to Alberta, and the rate card committee will bring in a report on this for adoption.

J. H. Woods President

J. H. Woods, of the Calgary Herald, was elected president for the ensuing year, and John McKenzie, of the Strathmore Standard, secretary-treasurer.

Hon. Frank Oliver on being asked to address the members, said that though he was well qualified to speak about weekly newspaper work, the question as to whether he could say anything worth while was another matter. He said that he had listened with interest to the discussion on advertising rates, and the subject of the relation of circulation to those rates.

"It is not a question of actual circulation," said Mr. Oliver; "it is a question of the field occupied by the paper. The fact that there are a hundred more or less subscribers to the paper does not matter. If there are competitors in the field, then perhaps advertisers would want to know the number of subscribers and probably give his business to the one having the largest number of readers."

How Advertiser Reaches Field

He pointed out that the advertiser reaches the field only through the columns of the local newspapers. "I feel very strongly on this subject," he declared, "and I think a good deal of the trouble is that the proprietor has not placed before the advertising agencies and the public the proper value of the service he is able to render to the public. There is a tendency for the publisher to feel that he is something of a dependent on the people..."

"A sort of a mendicant," interjected one of the audience.

"Well, yes, that is perhaps the word, but I did not care to say it. But I accept your amendment," returned the speaker. "This comes in some measure from the man who has the inspiration to start a newspaper, and is more of an enthusiast than a business man. He wants to convey his views to the community and is willing to go almost any length to do that."

A Cheap Service

"There is no service that the public gets so cheap and costs so little, as the service given by a rural weekly newspaper. What is two dollars to a man who depends on the newspaper for knowing his neighbors and what they are doing in the way of social activities, and the thousand and one items that only newspaper men can give. It is for the expression of his views and to advance his standing. What is two dollars a year for what he gets?"

Return to Advertisers

"It is the same with the advertisers. How could a merchant reach the field were it not for the local newspaper. If he attempted to circularize it every week in the same way, it would cost as much as the printing plant would cost. The difficulties are largely your own fault. You have not had confidence in the business side of the enterprise and have not pushed it in the way it should be pushed. The attention of the editor is often absorbed in the literary or news side, and not sufficient stress has been laid on the payment side."

Mr. Oliver then told of an amusing incident which occurred when he was running a small weekly. One of his subscribers dropped in one day and refused to renew his subscription on the grounds that his wife did not find the paper big enough to cover the pantry shelves. This was the way he regarded the newspaper. Later the man came back with his subscription. He said that he had missed getting an important contract because he had failed to see the advertisement in the paper.

Quantity Versus Quality

Another point mentioned by Mr. Oliver was the fact that the argument as often advanced by subscribers that they could get a bigger paper for their money by taking a weekly issued by one of the city dailies.

"That is an absurd argument," he said. "It is not the amount of reading matter in the paper, but the interest it has for you. You country publishers have something that we in the cities cannot give our readers. Do not let anyone bluff you with that argument, that you are not giving service for the money they pay."

Keep Stiff Upper Lip

"Argue your own case, keep a stiff upper lip, and you will find the public will respond. If you give them something for nothing, then that is the value they place on it—nothing. You have established that rate yourself. Make a fair charge for your work and service and you will be thought all the more of and be better off."—Calgary Herald.

"IN MIZZOURA" FOUNDED ON FACTS

Much has been written about realism on the screen, but the whole plot of "In Mizzoura," the new Paramount-Artercraft picture starring Robert Warwick, which will be shown at the Empress Theatre Monday and Tuesday next, is built around a startling incident that happened in that state several years ago. The author, Augustus Thomas, was at that time a reporter on a St. Louis paper. A train robbery took place in which a lone highwayman held up the express messenger and stole several thousands of dollars. Afterward he turned up in a small town and was captured. Mr. Thomas took this affair and, with his dramatic genius incorporated it into a play, along with an unusually appealing little love story. The late Nat Goodwin used it for several years a starring vehicle.

It was inevitable that a play of such force and appeal should reach the screen. Robert Warwick is said to fit ideally into the role of the hero and Eileen Percy is a pretty leading woman. The cast also includes Noah Beery, Monte Blue, Gertrude Short and Robert Cain. Hugh Ford, master director, handled the screening of the picture. Beulah Marie Dix, who pictured "Secret Service" and "The Woman Thou Gavest Me," wrote the scenario.

OTTAWA, Oct. 8.—At the railway board this morning it was stated that there is no possibility of the railway rates question which has been referred back to the board for further inquiry and consideration being reviewed until the return of Chief Commissioner Carvell from the west at the end of the month. On his return, it is regarded as possible that the telephone inquiry will be first proceeded with as it was practically agreed at the close of the Ottawa hearing that this case would be taken up next at a meeting to be held in November. In view of the necessity for further inquiry under the terms of the government's reference back to the board, it is not regarded as probable that there will be any disturbance of the present rate situation before the close of the year.—Calgary Herald.

PUBLIC OPINION HARDENS AGAINST IRISH PROPOSALS

LONDON, Oct. 11.—Public opinion is rapidly hardening against the Irish proposals both of Viscount Grey and Mr. Asquith. It is enough for a majority of the English men and women to realize that Ireland, in possession of even a small army and navy, could, with a few submarines, starve out England in a fortnight, and a few airplanes and zeppelins could bombard every big English town. Moreover, there might be no end to the intrigues with Britain's enemies if Ireland controlled her own external affairs independently of Britain. What astounds most politicians is that a former premier like Mr. Asquith, could propose anything of the kind.

Marriot, the member for Oxford, advances another reason which has a special interest for Canada. He speaks with considerable parliamentary and academic authority, and says in the Times: "Essence of a dominion status is the moral right of perfect secession. Dominions are far from likely to exercise this right but does anyone suggest that if one of the dominions desired to secede that the right would be frustrated by force? On the other hand does Mr. Asquith or any other responsible statesman propose that the moral right of secession be conceded to Ireland?"

One interesting incident of the week is the refusal of British firms to tender for Irish municipal supplies. The Dublin corporation is among the bodies which has approached several firms. They hesitate to cultivate trade with those who, for political reasons seek to evade payment by referring the creditors to a British government which might be withholding grants to Ireland. Most of these Irish municipalities' communications have consequently gone into the wastepaper baskets.

Private Irish traders are also finding difficulties in obtaining goods from English and Scottish firms owing to the general distrust of commercial conditions in the South and West of Ireland. Ulster wholesale houses apparently have no difficulty in their transactions with Britain, therefore, Sinn Fein traders must apparently either buy from Ulster or must go without.—Calgary Herald.

QUAINT ROMANCE ABOUNDS IN NEW SELZNICK PICTURE

How a pretty peasant girl wins and weds a young nobleman, loses him and then retrieves his love is delightfully portrayed by Olive Thomas, in her third Selznick Picture, "The Glorious Lady." The plot has for its pivotal thread a "point to point" race, the ancient classic of the English turf, when rich and poor, high and low, come together and mingle indiscriminately. For the occasion all class distinction is wiped away as nobility and peasantry rub elbows in an effort to carry off the racing honors of the day.

It is here that Olive Thomas, as a pretty girl of the middle class meets and attracts a high nobleman, the Duke of Loame, owner of the estate upon which she lives, and from the beginning the Duke's eyes are open to the charms of the daughter of his tenant. Soon he recognizes his love for her, but obstacles to their marriage have mounted so high and the chasm separating their social stations is so deep as to all but preclude the possibility of their marriage.

Finally these obstacles are made to fall before the ardor of the lovers, despite the barrier of blood the customs of the day and sharp villainy.

Matt Moore, as the Duke of Loame, heads a notable cast which includes Evelyn Brent, Robert Taylor, Huntley Gordon, Marie York, Mary Burke and others. The play was written by Edmund Goulding and produced under the direction of George Irving.

"The Glorious Lady" can be seen at the Empress Theatre for two days beginning Wednesday next.

MANY MARRIAGES IN FRANCE

Montmartre, France, in one week beat all the Paris marriage records. It was the week before the annual holidays began and the crush to get married was as great as the crush on the eastside trains which the honeymooners had later to share with the other passengers. The Town Hall, in which the civil ceremonies are performed by the mayor, was every day too small to hold the throng and overflow offices at which deputy mayors presided had to be opened. Even then there was scarcely room. First one assistant mayor was delegated for the matrimonial work, and when he began complaining of having too much to do, and being mobbed by the crowds who wanted to get married, another was appointed.

The crisis is past and the mayor and assistants are taking a rest. In the last six months they have married 3,372 couples, they declare which is nearly as many as in a whole year before the war.

Most of the brides dispensed with the usual bridal outfit from motives of economy and their wisdom is applauded by the mayor who declares that he never sees the use of a bridal veil and orange blossoms for a ceremony which, if he wants to get through the day's work, must not last longer than 130 seconds.—Family Herald.

Nothing Like Internal Bathing for Constipation

If people only knew what Internal Bathing is doing for thousands of others there would be fewer pills and laxatives swallowed, and very much less suffering from Constipation and the accompanying Stomach and Nervous troubles resulting from it.

J. A. Darrach, Copper Cliff, Ont., writes: "I have been using your J. B. L. Cascade for the past three months, and am convinced that it is the most modern and scientific method of dealing with constipation that has ever been devised, and I will lose no opportunity to promote its use among my friends, as I can speak truthfully and enthusiastically as to its merits."

By the proper application of Nature's cure, warm water, by means of the J. B. L. Cascade, the lower intestines are kept free from all poisonous waste. Drugs force nature. Internal bathing assists her.

Dr. Chas. A. Tyrrell, of New York, a specialist on Internal Bathing, invented and perfected the J. B. L. Cascade, which has done more during the past 20 years in restoring health and lessening disease than all other means combined.

Ask A. D. Ferguson, Druggist, Macleod, Alta., for booklet "Why Man of Today is Only 50 per cent. Efficient." He will also be pleased to show and explain the J. B. L. Cascade to you, or write to Tyrrell's Hygienic Institute, 163 College Street, Toronto.

DEATH OF MRS. T. SHIELD

Mary Jane Shield, wife of the late Thomas Shield, died at her home at Rathwell on Monday, October 11th at the age of sixty-six years. Mrs. Shield had been in poor health for two years past and her death was in the nature of the culmination of a gradual decline.

The deceased lady came here with her husband (Thomas Shield, who died about four years ago) twenty-one years since, from Kent County Ont.

Mrs. Shield was a member of the Methodist Church, was an ardently active church worker in congregational affairs at Rathwell and is lamented by co-workers and a host of friends in this district, and is more intimately mourned by her sons—W. H. Shield and P. Shield, Rathwell, and Wesley Shield, Macleod.

The funeral services for the departed were held at the Methodist church, Macleod, on Wednesday, October 13th at 2:30 p.m. and interment took place in the Union Cemetery.

DEATH OF MRS. HARRY HERRING

The death occurred on Wednesday morning at Lethbridge of Mrs. Herring, wife of Harry Herring. The deceased was a well-known resident of Macleod, having resided here for a number of years. She was a daughter of Mr. and Mrs. St. George, of Hazelmead. The late Mrs. Herring is survived by her husband and six small children. Her death was not unexpected as she had been suffering for some time past with tubercular trouble.

NEW YORK, Oct. 7.—An oil tank aboard the British steamer G. R. Crowe, tied up for repairs in Shevlin's drydock, in Brooklyn, exploded early this afternoon, while approximately 100 men were working on the craft. About an hour and a quarter after the explosion, four bodies had been recovered. A hasty check-up of workers showed four more missing and the number of injured was placed at between 20 and 30.

Fire did not follow the explosion, but a column of flames that leaped from the steel hull of the Crowe aroused fears that five other large steamers tied up in the yards might be endangered. For this reason fire apparatus was rushed to the yards.—Calgary Herald.

OTTAWA, Oct. 8.—Falling wheat prices are bringing communications to Ottawa urging restoration of wheat control. It is considered likely, however, that the government will decide to renege the wheat board, although there is authority for such a course should it be considered necessary. The decline in prices, it observed, is due to the world conditions and not the termination of the wheat board.

Restoration of control, it is understood, has not so far been considered in cabinet council.—Calgary Herald.

"MEMORIA"

(The first of the famous North West Mounted Police arrived at Macleod on October 13th, 1874. There are only two of these early pioneers now living in the district, namely, Mr. E. Maunsell and Mr. J. Stuttaford, to whom the following is dedicated.)

Men that were seeking adventure in a land unknown and new,
Men of muscle and sinew, just a noble few—
Of Britain's finest manhood, brave, undaunted, true.

Peace and order in the Westland,
Where law was then unknown,
To instate true British Justice, where a flag of crime had flown,
The Mounted Police . . . did they succeed? Success today is shown.

Roaming the boundless prairies o'er
Many an endless trail,
Laughing and scorning dangers, where hearts of steel would quail,
Their's to win and conquer, not knowing the cry "To Fail."

Facing the winter's perils, where the frost fiend's teeth bites keen,
Battling the prairie's blizzards, and the North Wind's ugly spleen,
With Excelsior as their banner, failure naught was seen.

Bringing law to the wary Redskin, undaunted, unafraid,
Driving from the Prairies, thief or renegade,
And in this Western Country, law and order safe was made.

Well we know your valor Pioneers of the Red and Gold,
While many of them are gathered safe in God's own fold—
Here's to those still living, men both brave and bold.

Canada owes a debt to you, for this great land of Peace.
Ye people of the Prairies, sing praises never cease

To the Pioneers of '74—The North West Mounted Police.

REACH & CO.

The H. B. Co. have told you all that they are giving up business this year. It is needless to say that we all will miss them. They had it in their power to be very aggressive or tyrannising with their small competitors. But on the other hand they were civil and courteous. This is important to the merchants and yourselves. It is policy to keep the old reliable stores up to date and able to enter to the increased trade. To do this, however, fresh stock will have to be put in. This is where you, the purchasing public, come on the scene. When the company pull out it means other stores coming in—Jew stores or men who have no sympathy with you and who come for the cash—with Eastern ideas of getting it. Now you can still keep the old merchants in business and enable them to get fresh goods and a larger stock by paying up your bills, even if you have to borrow to do so. These men have trusted you, had faith in you and know the peculiar circumstances many of you were placed in. So by paying them what you owe they can at once re-invest the money buying a larger stock. This is a case in which honesty is the best policy, and you can't be honest when you keep or spend the money instead of paying the merchant what you owe.

Organized Farmers
Arrange Joint Drive

Week of November 1st fixed as date for Campaign in three Western Provinces

According to reports received at this office, the week beginning November 1st will witness the greatest organization campaign ever conducted by the farmers' associations of the West. The campaign is to be carried on at the same time in each one of the three Western Provinces under the auspices of the U. F. A., the Sask. Grain Growers' Association and the United Farmers of Manitoba. It is expected that there will be upwards of ten thousand canvassers working under approximately six hundred district captains and forty constituency organizers. These canvassers will personally visit the resident farmers in their respective districts and solicit from each one money with which to finance the organization.

Plan of Organization

There is, in each of the three provinces, a Central or Provincial Committee. The plans for this joint drive were arranged through a conference of the "Central Committees" and with the consent of the various constituency boards. The plans are uniform for the three provinces.

Messrs. Herbert Greenfield, Westlock, L. M. Goetz, Red Deer and Snow Sears, Nanton, constitute the Central Committee for Alberta. On the recommendation of this committee each of the twelve constituency boards has appointed an organizer who will have full responsibility for organizing the drive for the district.

The constituency organizer—working with the members of the constituency boards—is subdividing all of the territory in the district into units of approximately nine townships each and over each unit of nine townships is placing a "District Captain." The district captains are endeavoring to enlist the services of at least one man or woman in each one-half township under their respective jurisdictions—who will agree to personally visit every resident in the district on November 1st or November 2nd and solicit from each one $6.00, this $6.00 will pay for a membership in the Association—a years subscription to the official organ—and membership dues in the political organization.

A similar membership drive was made in Saskatchewan last October—and in Manitoba in March 1920. In the Saskatchewan drive upward of 2000 canvassers were enlisted and the sum of $82,000.00 was collected. In Manitoba about 1000 canvassers were in the field and over $50,000.00 was secured.

The drive to be held in November has been much more thoroughly organized and it is confidently expected that upwards of 10,000 active canvassers will be enlisted for campaign.

MACKENZIE KING'S
CALGARY SPEECH

outlay of last year. The estimates were followed by the pronouncement of the Minister of Marine and Fisheries to the effect that the whole naval service would be reorganized, and that the government would defer the adoption of any naval policy until after the Imperial conference, which is to be held in England some time next year. Naturally, the assumption of the people's representatives in Parliament and of the country generally was that in this branch of the country's service economies would be effected, which could well be at the present time.

"The session has not ended, however, before the Minister of Marine announced that the government had accepted from the British government without any reference to parliament, two torpedo boat destroyers, two submarines and a cruiser, which were to form the nucleus of a naval service, and upon which the country was to be asked to expend an amount additional to the main estimates of $2,200,000. It was in vain that the opposition pleaded that until the government had a policy on naval defence which had the approval of parliament, this expenditure might well be deferred. The government would listen to nothing in the way of suggestion or reason, but pressed these estimates through parliament notwithstanding the combined opposition of Liberals and those members who compose the Farmer and Labor group in the House of Commons.

Militia Outlays

"With respect to the outlays on account of the militia," continued Mr. King, "the opposition were more fortunate. Though they failed to reduce the amount asked for in the main estimates, they did succeed in causing the Minister of Militia and Defence to refrain from asking, in the supplementary estimates,—as he had previously announced his intention of doing—the sum of $2,000,000 for the construction of barracks in different cities, and requesting only for the present the sum of $1,000,000.

"Item after item of military extravagance on ordinary account were questioned by the opposition in the house. We sought to reduce the amount of the active militia, annual drill, contingencies and other purposes, to figures corresponding to those of last year, but without success. In every case, the government demanded increased outlays.

"As an example of their extravagance let me cite the appropriation for small arms ammunition at the Dominion arsenal at Lindsay, and an and Quebec, Que. It was admitted by the government that it has on hand at the present time between 35 and 40 million rounds of ammunition; notwithstanding it asked parliament for expenditure on this account an amount of $272,000 to be paid to the Dominion arsenal at Lindsay, and an amount of $532,000 to be paid to the Dominion arsenal at Quebec, and refused to accept the opposition's proposal of reduction of this amount by $150,000 in the first instance and $250,000 in the second. In defence of his action, the Minister of Militia and Defence said that in 1910 Lord French had furnished a report to the government stating that the government should have on hand 90 million rounds, and the government proposed to bring the amount up to the figure which Lord French had recommended. As every one knows, Lord French's report was made prior to the war and in anticipation of war.

"Could anything be more inexcusable than wasteful extravagance of this kind. What we of the Liberal party contend is that, if the finances of the country are such that in the judgment of the government will permit of large outlays for military and naval expenditures of the kind I have mentioned, there can be no truth in the statement that the finances are insufficient to admit of more being done for the returned soldiers and the dependents of those who have lost their lives or for those who have sacrificed their health in the country's service.

"We believe that wherever there are cases of need or hardship, all such monies would be infinitely better expended, even in the form of gratuities, on returned men and their dependents, than in helping to maintain a military system which only serves to withdraw from useful production large numbers of men who at a time like the present, should be engaged in productive rather than unproductive callings.

The Midland Motors are closing out business tomorrow. The abruptness of their closing up is due to inability at last moment to make arrangements for continuance of their lease, which expires on the 15th. Messrs. The Chautauqua Festival at Macleod was a decided success as an entertainment—it was excellent. Captain Imrie's elucidation of the Irish question alone was well worth the price of the season ticket. The guarantee to the society was realized but the surplus was hardly enough to cover the other expenses—a little short in fact.

Miss E. Cave-Tory and Miss M. Stacey, of England, were the guests of Mrs. C. E. W. Gardiner for a few days last week. During the war these young ladies were members of the First Aid Nursing Yeomanry and were attached to the French Red Cross, serving in France as ambulance drivers. They have been touring Canada since June, having visited various coast cities, also Alaska and the northern part of this province. They left on Monday for a short visit at the Duke of Sutherland's ranch at Brooks, and after stopping off at various other points in the east they will sail from New York in November. A social evening under the auspices of the Ladies' Aid of St. Andrew's Church was held on Wednesday evening of this week at the home of Mrs. T. Peterson, she and Mrs. R. G. Buchart acting as hostesses. The guests were members and friends of the association and the evening passed pleasantly in music and games.

A very pleasant social evening was spent in the Parish Hall by the members of Christ church congregation and their friends on Friday, October 8th. The credit for this success must be given to the ladies, some of whom contributed a delightful musical program, while others supplied excellent refreshments. Dancing was then indulged in till midnight. With the floor in good shape and excellent music discoursed by Smith's famous orchestra, this was thoroughly enjoyed by all present.
